A morning pape avs: It was reported last night the Republican leaders have practically decided upon the form of the legislation the Repullican leaders have practally idecited upon the for n of the legislation regulating the price of gas in New York fits which is to be passed by the legislature during the present season. It is intended to pass a bil gradually scaling down the price of gas at the rate of five reats in thousand feet each year until a reduction has been made large enough to bring the cost to consumer within reason ble bounds as compared with the cost of production. The various hills which have been introduced in the legislature, making wholosale and immediate reductions will be held in the committees, it is said, and the easing measure, which will be put through with the aid of the caucas is necessary. The Republican managers cell that, some response must be made to the agitation for cheaper gas and they propose to satisfy this demand in a way which will emble the gas companies o adapt themselves to the change.
